

seeking { poets }
{ dreamers }
{ activists } { visionaries } who love trenton

GUERRILLA HAIKU MOVEMENT

friday, may 1 10:30 a.m.

meet at TCNJ TrentonWorks
5 south broad street
behind the dunkin' donuts

to help write love letters { around } { about }
{ on } { to } our city.

The Guerrilla Haiku Movement, hosted by Isles Inc. and Passage Theatre, is on a mission to cover Old Trenton in poetry. Friends and strangers will connect with haiku - a simple, strict, and expressive poetry form that can capture a world in just three lines.

We need people who believe in Trenton to join the scavenger hunt. Teams will be armed with chalk and challenged to engage passers-by in finding new canvases, expressing themselves, and discovering the beauty in our streets. Points will be given for the different places and people engaged.

Be a part of creating Trenton's first arts district. Grab some chalk, let Trenton inspire you, and let those syllables fly.

To get involved, please contact Elijah Dixon, Community Outreach Coordinator at Isles, at (609) 341-4732 / edixon@isles.org or Iana Dikidjieva, co-organizer of the Capital City Book Fair, at (201) 758-6475 / info@capitalcitybookfair.org.